Better insights in growth of groups Open Discussion

Within Deployteq, it is possible to see the growth of groups when you select them in a dashboard or when you click on the group itself in the ‘group’ tab.

However, it is difficult to see how a group grows or declines over a longer period of time without manual work. It would be great if we could create a dashboard in Analytics itself in which we could create tables and graphs to visually see how groups develop over time over a self-selected period.
