Make it possible to 'lock' campaigns/webhooks/folders from being deleted Open Discussion

I would REALLY like to add a functionality allowing me to 'lock' certain crucial items. And YES, unfortunately that is because I recently accidentally deleted a folder containing some crucial campaign items. I was able to re-make them very quickly so no real damage was done, but the mini-heart-attack was not something I would recommend ;-)

The functionality means that you can 'lock' a folder, campaign or webhook that is absolutely crucial to your work. And where people automatically click 'Yes' in the 'Are you sure'-popup like I did, it would help that it would prompt something like 'Type DELETE if you are absolutely sure that Folder XX or Campaign YY should be deleted. This cannot be undone'.

Either that. Or maybe implenent the 'undo'-option when deleting something ;-)

Many thanks! From me. And all others who have been in a similar situation.

I'd like this idea as well. And please also add profiles to the list of items you can potentially lock.
