Ability for Profile Editor to stop a calculation Closed - Fixed

Sometimes I hit 'calculate' in a profile only to realize I forgot to change something. It's very annoying that I have to wait for the profile to calculate (which can take a long time), before being able to make the change.

Thanks for the feedback! I've already discussed this with the development team and while it's pretty hard to cancel a profile calculation in mid-flight, we might be able to stop the calculation as soon as the current Rule is done calculating. This way you only have to wait for the current Rule to complete instead of the full profile, which probably saves a lot of time.

I'll keep you posted!

Ik heb dit al besproken met het development team en hoewel het vrij moeilijk is om een profielberekening halverwege te annuleren, kunnen we de berekening mogelijk stoppen zodra de huidige Regel klaar is met berekenen. Op deze manier hoef je alleen te wachten tot de huidige Regel is voltooid in plaats van het volledige profiel, wat waarschijnlijk veel tijd bespaart. Ik houd je op de hoogte.
