What is your feedback on the campaign designer in the new theme?

Feedback received so far:

- The active content in the bar at the bottom of the campaign doesn't look good at the moment, as it's filled with dark blue. This makes the dark text harder to read and doesn't look great alongside the icons either. Maybe use a very light blue highlight instead?

- The campaign objects are all the same color, which is less user friendly than before. It was clearer when each object category had its own colors (mail = purple, update = green etc).
