Make font size of notes in campaign designer editable Closed - Rejected

I would love to have the possibility to influence the font size in the notes that I can place in the campaign designer. For now there's one font size available which is quite small and requires me to zoom in before I can read it. That's fine for explanations and technical details. But when collaborating with other people on certain campaigns that I don't work directly together with, I would love to be able to place bigger texts near certain specific areas, so that I can point others to certain parts of the campaign easily.

For example 'IMPORTS SECTION', 'DECISIONING SECTION', 'DATA MODEL LOOKUPS' or 'CUSTOMER PAGES'.
In that way I can easily point them to certain places in the bigger campaigns, without having to ask them to zoom in and do a lookup for a certain note.

This might be the smallest request ever, but it would make working together on large, complex campaigns a lot easier.

We can see how this would be useful in your case, but it's not something that would benefit enough of our users to prioritize at this time.
