Would be great, when creating a table, to be able to select multiple e-mails. Multiple single shots, campaign mails or show all e-mails of a certain EmailType. We currently have to make a seperate table for every e-mail we want to include in our dashboard, would be very helpful to have them all in one dashboard and include a 'total/average' row as well. This makes it much easier to view the data of many e-mails at once, like SEINō does as well.
